Supporting Students and Families in
Red Deer Public Schools

Community Liaison Worker

The Red Deer Public Schools Community Liaison Workers serve children, youth and young adults within their home, school and community. The goal of our Community Liaison Worker is to support the wellness of students and their families so they can succeed in school.

Our Community Liaison Workers are professional staff who are part of each school's Student Support Teams and are dedicated to helping children, parents, and families. The service focuses on early intervention and prevention that supports the social, emotional and mental wellness of individuals.

Service Provision

Community Liaison Workers are here to meet with children, youth, parents and families to discuss the issues that are affecting student success. They assist with looking for options, developing strategies and helping find solutions.

Services offered:

- Provide support services to families and children facing social, emotional or family challenges.
- Promote effective communication and parenting skills.
- Build skills with students in small groups.
- Assist in finding information resources such as counselling or after hours crisis response workers.
- Collaborate with community agencies.
- Promote preventative opportunities within the schools and community.

All services are free of charge. Please contact your community school.

Philosophy

In addition to direct supports by our Community Liaison Worker, there are many resources and supports available in our community. Often times, it is difficult to know what these are and how to access them. Through our community connections we can assist families in accessing the services they need.

Community Liaison Workers are able to work with individuals wherever they are needed, be that within the school, at home, or in the community. Services are available year-round. We are here to help where and when you need us.

Referrals
